Downloading records from databases (Mac)

Many Library databases allow the user to export records from a database into a user's personal EndNote library. Note that you can not export records directly to your EndNote Library in Mac. You have to download the records and choose to "open with EndNote" option and then choose the right filter in order the records to be exported to your EndNote Library.

Exporting from special databases into EndNote

- Google Scholar
- MultiSearch
- Web of Science